A proxy will exercise all the rights enjoyed by a shareholder at the General Meeting of the Company, unless otherwise stated in the power of attorney. A proxy may grant further powers of attorney, unless otherwise stated in the power of attorney. Each proxy may represent more than one shareholder and vote in a different manner from each of the shares held by each shareholder he or she represents. - (a) if the shareholder is an individual, an original or a copy of an identity card, passport or any other official identification document confirming the identity of the shareholder; or

In the event of doubts as to the authenticity of the copies of the aforementioned documents, the Company or a representative (or representatives) appointed by the Company to register the shareholders may demand, before the commencement of the General Meeting's session, the presentation of the originals of the said documents or copies certified by a notary or another entity authorised to certify documents as true and correct copies as well as demand that the Company is enabled to make and retain copies of such documents. Each shareholder may freely choose the manner of appointing a proxy. The Company is not liable for any errors in proxy forms or any actions or omissions by individuals using the proxy forms. At the request of the Company or a person (persons) appointed by the Company to register the shareholders, a proxy appearing in the General Meeting is required to present the originals of the documents attached to the notification referred to above.
